

PRE PRIMARY COMPETITIONS

“The most beautiful world is always entered through imagination.” Helen Keller

Although perceived as a mere fun activity, fancy dress is of great benefit to children in their foundation years for building their imagination and vocabulary. Fancy dress play is more than just physically wearing a costume. When “in character”, children learn to role play. They learn to imitate the mannerisms of the character or object they’re dressed up as, and, may even create their own special traits and themes, which encourages children to “think outside the box,” practice different emotions, and use their language skills to communicate. Competitions like these blend learning with fun and thereby develop confidence in students.

The theme for Play house was Means of Transport whereas the LKG students had ‘Imaginary Creature’ as their theme.

The creativity of the parents who dressed up their children with boundless imagination was highly commendable. The parents of LKG students showed their ingenuity by dressing up their children as an imaginary creature that was a combination of two different creatures having an imaginary name.

Overall the talent of the students and dedication from the parents made this event successful. The effort and hard work of children and parents were truly appreciable. The competition proved to be great learning experience for the students and gave them a platform to explore their hidden talent.

The students of UKG energetically participated in the Object Talk Competition conducted for them. The little ones had to speak up a few lines on ‘Monuments of India’. The students were informed to bring any picture or image of their choice based on the theme. They were excited to share their descriptive narration and waited eagerly for their turn to show and tell. This event helped our tiny tots to build their social, emotional and language skills.
